PREFACE

This is the third Icelandic football yearbook, and, hopefully, the best one as well. At least, it is by far the most substantial of the three books. It includes a few new features, i.e. Iceland's international line-ups and results, a list of Iceland's capped players, a comprehensive review of the 1985 season, lists of champions in all divisions and a list of top scorers in the first division since 1955.

Now I have decided to stop publishing the Icelandic football yearbook. The reasons are mainly personal. I am gradually losing interest in the subject, and I'd like to be able to do other things with my time. It has appeared that the adherent correspondence to the publication business is so vast, that there is no way that I can cope with it. As for purely economical reasons, it is clear that the publication of this yearbook is not profitable. In any case, I have decided not to make another Icelandic football yearbook, and that decision isn't going to be altered.

I can only direct those who need more information on Icelandic football to the Icelandic FA (the K.S.I.). Another possibility is using the pen-friends column in Morgunbladid, Iceland's biggest newspaper, to get contacts in Iceland. See the two addresses below.

In any case, I hope that you, the reader, will find this book interesting, and I hope that it is going to answer many questions.

PART I:
THE 1985 SEASON

Review of the 1985 Season

The Icelandic football season in 1985 was a triumph for the attacking game. A total of 277 goals were scored in the first division, an average of 3,08 goals per match; an impressive upswing from the 1984 average of 2,58 goals per match. Furthermore, the championship race was highly exciting, with six out of ten first division clubs participating, and the eventual winner made sure of the title only in the last round of the season. The 1985 season will be remembered as one of the best ever for Icelandic football, not only on the domestic scene, but also on the international scene. The national team played well, and was unlucky not to get a point in its World Cup ties, all of which were lost by the narrowest of margins. The team also made history by hammering The Faeroes 9-0, thus making sure of Iceland's biggest ever victory in an international. The Icelandic participants in the European Cups did extremely well, better than ever before. Fram knocked out Glentoran in the first round and then beat Rapid Wien at home by a margin that unfortunately wasn't big enough to knock the giants out. Valur beat Nantes at home by 2-1, playing extremely well, but were convincingly defeated in the return leg and so were knocked out. IA had no chance against Aberdeen.

As for the first division season, Valur clinched its 18th championship, thus getting closer to KR's record of 20 championship triumphs. Just like the season before, Valur started badly but its momentum increased gradually. Their last (and second) defeat of the season came in the fifth round. From that point, Valur proved to be invincible. The key to Valur's success lies in their brilliant defensive stalwarts, i.e. centre-backs Sævar Jónsson and Guðni Bergsson and full-backs Þorgrimur Þráinsson and Grimur Sæmundsen. However, their brightest star this season was forward Guðmundur Þorbjörnsson, whose career had been seriously hampered by injuries, but found a new lease of life in this Valur team. Guðmundur scored 12 goals in the league, including some very important ones, and found his way into Tony Knapp's national squad, as well as being selected "the best player of the season" by his fellow first division players.

IA. Winners of the league and cup "double" for the last two seasons, IA found themselves unable to defend either of these titles. This could more or less be expected, bearing in mind that the club lost four regulars during the close season, and, in a way, it was a bit surprising that IA managed to do so well as to grab second place. Their team was an interesting blend of experienced veterans like Guðjón Þórðarson, Sigurður Lárusson and Árni Sveinsson on the one hand, and young and promising players like Ólafur Þórðarson, Birkir Kristinsson and Heimir Guðmundsson on the other hand. One thing is certain; there is no lack of youth potential in Akranes, so the future looks bright for this most famous club of Icelandic football.

Þór enjoyed a fine season, another reminder that they have joined the club of the best. The keys to their fine performance this season were, one: the stability of their team, two: their brilliant home form. Þór were able to field the same First XI almost throughout the season. At their home ground in Akureyri they won 8 out of 9 matches. And they were able to cope with the loss of goal ace Bjarni Sveinbjörnsson, who had scored 7 goals in 10 matches when a serious injury ruled him out for the rest of the season. The Þór team was, above all else, a "team without stars". However, the 20-year-old Halldór Áskelsson played like a true star in Þór's last match of the season, when he found the net five times in a 6-1 trashing of FH, thus clinching the selection of "the most promising player of the season", voted by first division footballers.

Fram started the season in true style, winning 7 out of their first 8 matches, and in the minds of most people, they looked set to win the championship for the first time in 14 years. However, the 9th round of play proved to be the turning point for the club. They were torn to pieces by ruthless IA by the score of 6-2. This had grave effects on the confidence of the Fram players, and during the second half of the season they completely lost out, winning only 3 matches out of 9, and ended up in fourth place. However, they were successful in other competitions, and their biggest success came in the cup, where they knocked out holders IA in the second round and went on to the final, where they beat IBK comfortably. Apart from that, Fram won the Reykjavik Cup (a spring tournament in which only the Reykjavik clubs participate) and the Champions of champions title (the Icelandic equivalent to the Charity Shield), as well as doing exceedingly well in the European Cup Winners' Cup. The main reason for Fram's success this season compared with their dissapointing 1984 season probably lies with the fact that this season, their squad included goalgrabbing midfielder Ómar Torfason. He proved to be an instant inspiration to the team, and quickly got on the goal trail, ending up as top scorer in the first division with 13 goals. This boosted his career in such a way that in the autumn, he turned professional with Swiss club Luzern.

IBK was the surprise team of the season. They lost several key players during the close season and therefore they had to throw several inexperienced youngsters into the first division limelight. However, the youngsters fitted in perfectly and IBK remained in a comfortable mid-table position for most of the season. Apart from that, they went all the way to the cup final, where they lost 1-3 to a determined Fram. International striker Ragnar Margeirsson, who has now turned professional with Waterschei of Belgium, finally found his goalscoring flair and scored 12 goals in the league plus 3 in the cup. Another success was ex-UBK player Sigurjón Kristjánsson, who joined IBK in mid-season from Portugese club Campinese. He fitted immediately into the team, scored several brilliant goals and was an inspiration to his team-mates. If IBK can hold on to their young potential, the future looks bright for the club.

KR had a happy season despite ending up sixth, because once and for all, their team showed that KR and dull football aren't synonyms. They scored 32 goals in the league, something no-one could have expected two or three seasons ago. This change of style was introduced by new coach Gordon Lee, ex-manager of Everton and Newcastle. He threw away the worn-out "safety first" tactics of his successor Hólmbert Friðjónsson, and replaced them with a kind of "total football". This worked out well, and even though no honours were won, KR fans were happy. Apart from the usual fight on the football pitch, KR had to fight for points in courtrooms as well. A suspended player was used as a substitute in their first match of the season (a 4-3 victory against Þróttur), a faul which, in itself, surely is worthy of the deduction of points. However, KR officials claimed never to have received any message saying that the player was suspended. And, in late August, after the case had gone through several tribunals with different results, the final decree was announced: KR had the points. So much for that. Gordon Lee will be back at KR next season and he knows that KR fans expect a great deal of him.

Newcomers FH achieved what they set out to do, that is, to stay clear of the relegation zone. They remained in a comfortable position the season through, sliced in between the six championship contenders and the three relegation battlers, and a disastrous last two matches couldn't even change that. Looking at plain numbers, it is clear that FH's league record would hardly have been good enough to keep them from relegation in a "normal" season, and their goal difference was scandalous. The FH team included veterans and youngsters alike. The "old boys" are going to retire soon and it remains to be seen that the young players can turn FH into a prominent first division club.

Víðir come from the town of Garður, which is situated a few miles west of Keflavik and has around 1.000 inhabitants. It is therefore clear that Víðir's resources are far more limited than those of any other first division club. This is why football experts found it unlikely that Víðir would manage to hold on to their first division place. They were proved wrong. Víðir repeated the old story of achievement through commitment, tirelessness and stamina, fought tooth and nail and kept their place. Certainly, it was a close thing: it was only in their ultimate match against Þróttur, a match they had to win to stay up, that their success was ensured. Coach Marteinn Geirsson can look back to his accomplishment as Víðir's coach with some satisfaction. Under his leadership, the club won promotion to the first division and then managed to hold on to it; by far the most successful years in the short history of the club.

Þróttur started the season not so badly, and won three out of the first six matches. After that, they didn't win a match. In early August, coach Jóhannes Eðvaldsson resigned through a "mutual agreement" with the board. As before, Þróttur found goals very hard to come. They badly needed a player like determined striker Páll Ólafsson, who netted four times in the first four matches but then gave up football to turn a professional handball player in West Germany. No-one doubts the quality of the Þróttur defensive line - and they've got potential in midfield as well. Therefore, Þróttur will probably be challenging strongly for promotion next season.

The 1985 season was a true nightmare for Víkingur, champions in 1981 and 1982. They lost 13 matches in a row - a new record - and collected only 7 points in the league. The loss during the close season of midfielder Ómar Torfason to Fram and forward Heimir Karlsson to Holland meant the loss of the backbone of the team. The gaps which they left behind were hard to fill. Injuries to some key players didn't help, and the final nail in Víkingur's coffin was the emergence of a disagreement between coach Björn Árnason and several players, which, after some players had taken the action of refusing to play, resulted in the resignation of the coach. By then, it was already clear that only a miracle could keep Víkingur from relegation. No such thing happened, and Víkingur fans now have to face the gruesome task of watching their team play in division two. It will be interesting to see how Víkingur will cope down there.

The second division was a three-horse-race. ÍBV, UBK and KA fought out for the coveted two promotion places, and, after an exciting finish, ÍBV and UBK triumphed. The newcomers from the third division, Fylkir and Leiftur, went straight down again.

In division 3, Selfoss finally managed to recover their second division place. Einherji continue their yo-yo game from division 3 to division 2 and back again. In the fourth division, ÍR finally managed to win promotion after going close many times. Reynir Á. grabbed the other promotion place.

In the women's divisions, ÍA won the first division for the second successive season. Valur won the cup, also for the second time in succession. Haukar and Víkingur were promoted to division one.

The First Division Clubs in 1985

Introduction to the clubs' section

As in previous Icelandic football yearbooks, much space is devoted to the first division clubs. Each of the ten first division clubs gets a three-page survey, in which some club details are analyzed. The format of these surveys is explained below.

Page one of each survey is mostly dedicated to the history of the club in question. Hopefully, most of the details given on this page are self-explanatory. For those who have read previous Icelandic football yearbooks, it should be stressed that in this book, the "most capped player" figures are calculated simply by looking at which player played most internationals for each club. If the player played any internationals for another club (or clubs), the total number of internationals which he played is given in brackets (for example, see Fram).

Page two displays complete 1985 season match-by-match details for the club. The upper table shows the league record of the club, and the lower shows line-ups for each match. A plus ("+") in the lower table means substitute appearances, e.g. "1+1" means one full appearance and one substitute appearance. In between these two tables, the club's cup record is given. As for these, it should be noted that an "e" in the "Result" column means that the match went into extra time, and a "p" means that the result was decided through a penalty shoot-out. In these instances, not only the half-time score but also the full-time score is given (and, in case of a "p", the score after extra time is printed as well). Below the cup details, a list of the club's goalscorers is produced, cup goals being seperated from league goals with a plus ("+").

Page three lists the players of the relevant club, giving details of position, birthyear, international merits and league record for each player. For abbreviations in the "international merits" column see table below; furthermore, concerning this column, it should be noted that figures in brackets indicate goals scored. As for the league records, it is worthy of notice that the author only has these figures for the past three seasons, i.e. 1983, 1984 and 1985 (plus second division records for 1984). Therefore, inevitably, the league records given are far from complete for most players, but they can at least serve the purpose of giving suggestions of reality. Hopefully, readers agree.

Abbreviations in "international merits"

Abbreviation	Explanation
Y	Youth internationals, age 14-16
J	Junior internationals, age 16-18
U21	Under 21 internationals
A	Full internationals

The League Clubs in 1985

The table below gives some facts about each of the 73 league clubs in Iceland in 1985. The clubs are listed in alphabetical order by their "common names", i.e. the names that are used in "everyday talk". These names are used in this book. Each Icelandic football club also has a "full name", which is also given in the table. And, of course, every club has a "home", a town or a county. In this column, the counties are seperated from the towns by the use of an asterisk ("*"), i.e. counties are marked with an asterisk. Then the table gives the division in which the club played in 1985, and lastly, the table displays information about how many seasons the club has spent in each of the four divisions of Icelandic football.

PART II:
STATISTICAL HISTORY OF ICELANDIC FOOTBALL

First Division Final Tables Since 1912

This same compilation appeared in the 1984 Icelandic Football earbook. Regrettably, that publication included a number of errors, n inescapable consequence of the fact that the tables were compiled n some hurry. However, with the inestimable aid of Messrs Bryan Milne f Cramlington, England, and D.W. Abbink of Enschede, Holland, as well s several others, it has been possible to track down the errors, so, opefully, the version below is nearly error-free.

Notes: (1) Valur had four points deducted for fielding an ineligible player in matches vs. ÍBÍ (2) and KA (3), who, in turn, got both the points. This table does not include this verdict in the home and away figures; however, the total figures give the picture as if Valur had lost both matches.

Note: ÍBV (2) had one point deducted for fielding an ineligible player in their home match vs. UBK (1). The match ended in a 2-2 draw, but UBK were awarded both points. See 1982 (note) for statistical handling of this.

In 1984 the Icelandic FA decided to introduce the English three-points- a-win system to Icelandic football. The season of 1984 was the first season which was played under this new system.

Iceland's Internationals

Results

The list below includes the results in all internationals that Iceland had played by January 1, 1986, i.e., it includes all internationals that the Icelandic FA regard to be "full internationals". These need not necessarily be recognized as such by FIFA, as is indeed the case for most of the internationals in which Iceland's opponents fielded their amateur teams. These matches are specified in the table by the mark "(Am)", meaning that the opponents were the amateur national team of the country in mention.

Apart from this, the list hardly needs much clarification. However, in order to find out which games are "home" and which "away", it should be noted that the venues of Melavöllur (the old football pitch in Reykjavik), Laugardalsvöllur (the present international stadium in Reykjavik), Akureyri, Húsavik, Njarðvik, Keflavik and Akranes all are "home" venues. Hopefully, the geographical position of most of the "away" venues will be easily found out by readers.

Line-ups

During the past two years, I have received an incredible number of requests for Iceland's international line-ups. I decided to try and do something in reply to this great demand, but, having never collected the line-ups myself, and getting no help from the Icelandic FA, I needed a foundation on which to build. This foundation I got from Mr. Kaare M. Torgrimsen of Stavanger, Norway. Then I acquired some other collections of the line-ups, namely these of Stuart Beeson of Derby, England, Jörgen Nielsen of Randers, Denmark and Dave Allan of Stourbridge, England, and, by comparing their versions to the original version, I detected some differences, which I sorted out by going through old Icelandic newspapers. In this manner, I have managed to build a collection of Iceland's international line-ups which is near perfect, compared to official Icelandic FA caps' figures. This would never have been possible without the aid of the gentlemen mentioned above, and I am also grateful to Benny Norman of Krylbo, Sweden, who checked the post-1974 details for errors.

Anyway, the above-named collection is listed on the next few pages. For each match, the following details are given:

Match No. - Opponents - Result (HT score).
Iceland's goalscorers (if any).
First XI (4 or 5 lines), club printed in brackets for each player.
Substitutes (if any). The number printed with the name of each substitute is the number of the player whom the substitute replaced (each player in the First XI gets a number from 1 to 11 in the same order as you read).
Referee, name and country.

Obviously, the list of Iceland's international results (see previous pages) will have to be used with this list in order to get a complete picture. This bisection of international details was necessary due to technical reasons.

In any case, I hope that these line-ups will be of some use.

Iceland's Capped Players

Up to January 1, 1986, the Icelandic national team had featured the total number of 233 players in the 158 internationals Iceland had played since the beginning of Icelandic international football in 1946. The international careers of each of these players is given in the table below. For each player, the total number of caps earned is given, as well as the total number of goals scored. The table also shows which year the player in mention made his debut, as well as specifying how many caps and goals the player got for each of the clubs he played for. In some cases, the names of clubs needed to be abbreviated, and these abbreviations are explained in another table below the first one.

It should be mentioned that in this table, the caps and goals figures are given as printed in the Icelandic FA's official yearbook, and in a few instances these figures do not match the numbers gathered from adding up the international appearances shown in the international line-ups section of this book. Certainly, neither the line-ups in this book or the figures in the Icelandic FA's yearbook are completely error-free.
